Import Field Mapping

Last Updated: $action.dateFormatter.formatDateTime($content.getLastModificationDate())

Field Mapping

 this page - and tabs - has been moved to <https://support.goalexandria.com/operations/import/import-field-mapping/>

If the import file is recognized, Alexandria will automatically sort, organize, and match the information to the correct, specified fields. If the import file is missing a header, it will not be recognized. The relationships between fields and attributes of different names and types may not match and have to be mapped. Alexandria will require you to set your patron and item field mapping in order to proceed.

Patron Field Mapping
Select a field and use the arrows below to specify the order of the fields to be imported. Clicking on a green checkmark will disable importing of that field.

1088	✓ Barcode
Lonnie Ann	✓ First Name
Amstead	✓ Last Name
	✓ Middle Initial
S08	✓ Policy
1	✓ Status
	✓ SSN
Stark	✓ Location
	✓ Sublocation
8	✓ Grade
	✓ Student #
CDL	✓ Site

Cancel Set

Data is imported in sequential order; use the white up and down arrows to correctly align the fields of the import file. Click on a field to exclude it from the import; clicking on fields will toggle them between a green ✓ and a red ✗. See Item Import Fields by Field Number for more information on the fields that can be imported.

When you've finished matching Alexandria fields to the information in your file, click the Set button.

 If you have a patron with a combined first and last name (one that has not been separated by tab delimitation), use this field to split the name into First and Last Name during import.
